Section I: (7 marks) Read the passage carefully.

Peter is a lazy boy who does not like homework. One day, he found an elf hiding under his pillow.

The elf promised to help Peter to do all of his homework if Peter allowed him to stay. Peter was very pleased and handed the elf all his homework and went to sit in front of the television to watch his favourite cartoon.

After a while, the elf called out to Peter, "How do you solve this sum? How do you write a composition?"

Peter got up and explained to the elf how to do addition and write the composition. The elf did not know how to do the homework so Peter stayed up all night to help the elf complete his homework.

The next morning, Peter was very tired as he did not have enough sleep. Peter sighed. He felt that it was better to do his homework by himself. He did not have to explain how to do his homework to the elf.
