It was a hot day. The bus was packed with office workers and students. Jenny and Sally were on the bus too. They were going home after a long day in school. They were starving as it was almost dinner time. The two girls managed to find seats and sat down happily.

After a few stops, a pregnant lady and her child got on the bus. The toddler was holding onto her hand. She tried very hard to keep her balance.

Nobody bothered to give up their seats to the mother and child. All the passengers seemed not to notice them. Some passengers were either pretending to sleep or were engrossed in their reading. Jenny and Sally saw what had happened and immediately stood up and offered their seats to the pregnant lady and her child.

She looked very pleased and grateful. After sitting down, she kept thanking the two girls. Jenny and Sally smiled and nodded. They felt great for doing a good deed.

Section F :Comprehension 2 (5 x 2 marks = 10 marks)

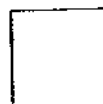

Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions that follow.

Write your answers in complete sentences.

The children played many games on the pavement of the busy street in which they lived. The favourite for the girls was Hopscotch but this meant that untidy chalk marks were left behind. They stayed until the rain came and washed them out. The boys liked playing noisier games such as 'Last Across the Road' in which there was a great deal of shouting and some danger.

The younger girls sat in their own doorways nursing dolls or dressing and undressing them. The dolls always had names like 'Belinda' or 'Matilda'. There never seemed to be any boy dolls.

Some boys played football. They enjoyed dribbling the ball and the greatest excitement was to kick the ball past the goal keeper to score. Boys and girls would join in the game called 'Statues' in which they had to stand as still as possible in a queer position, pretending to be carved from stone.

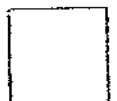

41. Where did the children usually play together?

42. What does the word 'They' in the passage refer to?

43. Why do you think 'Last Across the Road' was not a safe game?

44. Why do you think there were no dolls for boys?

45. Why do you think was the game named 'Statues'?
