Section D: Comprehension MCQ (5 x 1 mark)

Read the passage carefully and answer the questions that follow.

Countless pet products subscribe to the cliché that all domestic cats are fish lovers. Indeed, 1 almost all domestic cats fancy fish, and we eagerly accommodate this desire of theirs.
However, the question then arises: Is fish really good for cats?

How did the fish become the cat's main choice of diet? According to history, only one of the 5 domestic cat's ancestors, the jungle cat, has fish in its natural diet. As a result of domestication, humans have largely influenced and altered the cat's food preferences. It has only us, humans, to blame for making fish a major part of a cat's diet.

Almost all domestic cats are fed with nothing but canned fish. These fish concoctions that 10 human food manufacturers produce are mainly packed in water or oil, which is not a complete diet for cats. Although they are high in protein, they do not supply the cat with sufficient amounts of certain amino acids and vitamins. These canned choices are also excessively high in sodium, giving more than what cats normally need.

Although our feline friends have a taste for all things fishy, fish has not been the natural food 15 for cats, thus feeding a fish-exclusive diet to cats will do more harm than good. Fish, no matter served whole, raw, cooked or canned, will cause nutritional deficiency of some kind, which in turn can lead to serious diseases. If fish is to be included in the diet plan of the domestic cat, one may do so sparingly as treats.

- (1) fish lovers
  - (2) pet products
  - (3) different breeds of cats
  - (4) the food nutrition of cats
22. The main diet of domestic cats is fish because _____.
- (1) it is high in protein and sodium
  - (2) one of their ancestors eats fish
  - (3) fish can be served in various ways
  - (4) humans feed them mainly canned fish
23. Why is canned fish not a healthy choice of food for cats?
- (1) It is high in protein.
  - (2) It is lacking in sodium.
  - (3) It contains sufficient amounts of amino acids and vitamins.
  - (4) It will cause malnutrition leading to serious diseases.
24. Which word in the passage has the same meaning as 'shortage'?
It is _____.
- (1) cliché
  - (2) sparingly
  - (3) deficiency
  - (4) concoction
25. Which of the following statements is true about the passage?
- (1) Domestic cats are naturally fish lovers.
  - (2) Cats should be fed a fish-exclusive diet.
  - (3) Fish should be given to cats in limited amounts.
  - (4) Humans have altered a cat's food preference from fish to other forms of diet.

Damian and his sister, Melody, were in the park at Seletar Reservoir. They were having a picnic there. It was their first visit to the park and they were having a (36) _____ of a time running here and there. Their parents were sitting quietly reading at a (37) _____ spot.

Suddenly, Damian (38) _____ something hanging from the tree just above his father's head! His mother told him that it was a caterpillar hanging on very fine threads like the web of a spider. "Oh!" said Melody, "I thought only spiders have webs." Her father then (39) _____ that spiders build webs for a different purpose from caterpillars, which spin threads to cover themselves up when they need to rest for a long period of time or to get down from the trees.

Damian added that a caterpillar needs a long period of time to change itself into a pupa. When caterpillars are hatched from the eggs (40) _____ by butterflies, these tiny eggs do not have (41) _____ food inside to help them grow. So when the eggs are hatched, the caterpillars have to eat as much as possible. At first the caterpillar is called a larva and it eats and grows. Then it rests inside a hard covering or cocoon before becoming a pupa. Then when it is fully (42) _____ into a butterfly, it breaks the hard covering and comes out of it as a beautiful butterfly! From then on, the butterfly is independent enough to look for food on its own.

Read the passage carefully. Fill in each blank with the most suitable word.

In 1914, World War 1 broke out. It was a war which resulted in massive loss of lives and resources. It was also the first war in history to be fought by many different (48)_____ in many different parts of the world.

Besides being the first war to use tanks, chemical warfare and planes, it was also one of the (49)_____ wars recorded in history as over 70 million military personnel were mobilized. It was the first war involving the deliberate bombing of towns and cities outside of the battle areas. The (50)_____ changed many parts of the world on different levels — social, political and economic. It also had a devastating emotional impact on people through the horrors of war and the (51)_____ of loved ones as more than 15 million people died worldwide.

Just twenty years (52)_____ the end of World War 1, the world went to war once more, despite the devastation of the number of deaths and level of destruction in the former. It is important to consider if war could have been (53)_____ in either case. One of the main reasons for war to continue is that many countries are (54)_____ to disarm and destroy their weapons. Japan was one such (55)_____ that drove a war through the Asia Pacific, leading to more deaths and misery. The war which finally ended in 1945 was one of the deadliest conflicts in human history.

Section J: Comprehension Open-ended (5 x 2 marks)

Read the passage carefully and answer the questions that follow. Write your answers in complete sentences.

It was 17 December 1770 and the attractive town of Bonn in Germany was lightly covered in snow, just like a picture. At the church of St Remy, Mr and Mrs Van Beethoven were in a festive mood as their newborn Ludwig van Beethoven was to be baptized that morning. 1

Little Beethoven struggled with his studies at school and eventually left school for good at the tender age of eleven. For the rest of his life, he found even the simplest spellings and sums very difficult. However, the child thinks of only music. When his father realized that he was no longer equipped to teach his young son, he referred him to renowned teachers such as Gottlob Neefe. Besides Neefe, Beethoven also had the best teachers for the piano, organ, violin and viola. 5

Beethoven was indeed a lucky child prodigy to have received tutelage from famous composers like Haydn and Neefe. He published his first composition for the piano before the age of twelve. This earned him recognition from Prince Maximilian Franz who sent him to Vienna in 1787 to hone his musical and composition skills. 10

By seventeen, Beethoven had become a brilliant musician. He made trips to visit Mozart, taking with him his best compositions. Mozart was very impressed by his talent and showered him with compliments. 15

Beethoven's mother died when he was nineteen and his father could not earn enough to support the family. Beethoven had to earn his own living from composing pieces and playing the viola in the Bonn court chapel and theatre. Though life was tough, he enjoyed travelling and performing along with many fine musicians. 20

A musician uses his ears above all, but Beethoven became deaf in his late twenties. In order to continue to play and compose, he depended on his memory. From then on, people referred to him as the great Beethoven!
